The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

A Look at the Energy Crisis

During the past couple of weeks President Nixon set up a five-year $10 billion research and development program to find alternatives to the diminishing supply of oil.

He was not looking at the present "shortage" which is born of a profit motive just as the meat "shortage" is.

The shortage spotlight is being held by producers capitalizing on the crunch of an unusually severe mid-west winter and by classroom ecologists who would stop all living on this planet in the interest of ecological purity. Out of the light's glare came higher gasoline prices. The shortage is not here right now — but it is coming.

Over the long haul there will be an energy shortage and the U.S. Senate's study, recently released by Sen. Edward J. Gurney, substantiates the fact.

Let's look at the supply in the U.S. Oil was commercially produced in the U.S. in 1859. Since then 110 billion barrels have been burned. There are but 38 billion barrels of proven crude oil reserves left in the U.S. — a 9-year supply at existing use rates.

Natural gas was discovered in 1828. 413 trillion cubic feet of the stuff has been burned in the ensuing 145 years. 279 trillion feet — an 11½ year supply — remain.

Coal was produced first in 1758 and 35.5 billion short tons have been consumed. 773 million short tons are still recoverable but that's not enough to take the place of gas and oil.

Energy in the U.S. comes from oil, 44%; natural gas, 33% and coal 18%.

During the past 20 years energy consumption has doubled and it will double again in the next 12 years. By the year 2000 five times as much energy will be required.

Where did the energy go? In the past 70 years population in America has tripled and national productivity has increased 800%.

Since 1940 auto ownership has increased from six for every ten households to eight for every six.

In 1950 one family in 8,500 owned a teevee set. Now it is practically one for one.

In 1952 less than one percent of all American homes had air-conditioning. Today it is 33 per cent.

Nowadays the average family has 13 different electric appliances. 20 years ago they were luxuries or non-existent.

All these things use energy — and encourages production.

Productivity affected environment as it gulped energy. Pollution came to our water supply; to the air we breathe and to the food producing lands. The cleanup bill — the bill for progress, actually — will cost every American about $80 a year starting right now. And more, unless we find substitutes for pollution-ladened oil and coal. Production and ecology, then, must go hand in hand.

50 years ago U.S. was the world's leading oil exporter. Today we import more than 33% and in six years it will be 65% with most of it coming from the troubled sands of the Middle East. This brings the risk of being cut off completely or being subject to political blackmail in case of war.

The balance of payments situation has helped put the pressure on the plummeting dollar. Yet we sent $7 billion overseas to buy oil last year — up from $1 billion in 1970 and it is scheduled to be as much as $31 billion in 1980.

And we must face the further fact that the world's known petroleum reserves will last only 35-50 years!

Did oil producers conspire to bring an artificial shortage? They had cause. It could drive independent competitors out of business. It could persuade Congress to OK the Trans-Alaskan Pipeline. It could overcome environmental objections to off-shore drilling and building new refineries.

Observers have cause to be concerned. Producers have seen independents grow from 5% of the U.S gas market in 1945 to 25% in 1963. Last year it reached 33%.

Independents thrive by selling gas for 3-5 cents a gallon under major oil firms' outlets. But in two months independents' costs rose as much as 33% and more than 1,500 stations went out of business.

Gasoline costs more. It is up about 10c a gallon (30%) since 1962 of which 10% came during the past year.

Profits. The first quarter of the year show the 20 largest companies racked up a whopping 26% over the previous year.

Controlled? Despite unprecedented demand, oil companies cut exploratory drilling by 58% over the past 15 years and have built but one new refinery in the past three years.

But the oil companies have some answers, too. None of which admit conspiracy.

There has been an increased demand for oil. Until recently there have been oil import quotas. A natural gas shortage forced many firms to switch to petroleum. There were federal and state regulations requiring cleaner burning fuel by industry.

Exploratory drilling reached astronomical heights. Environmentalists obstructed off-shore drilling and new refineries.

Severe winter weather last year drained fuel supplies in some areas.

Producers claim that competition is such that it would be nearly impossible to implement a conspiracy and that eight companies have recently agreed to increase the nation's refining capacity 10%

Research. Scientists say some possibilities exist among the following:

A new method of coal gasification and liquification to supply 5-10 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

Greater development of shale oil which produces a barrel of oil for every 1½ tons of rock.

Stepped up nuclear power by which 50% of the nation's energy needs could be met by the year 2000. Nuclear plant scorecard: 29 plants in operation; 55 under construction; 76 in planning stages.

Recapturing hydrogen from water. Unlimited supply and non-polluting. But it takes a lot of electricity to produce.

Solar energy. Parabolic reflectors, earth satellites (which will convert sunlight to microwave energy) and solar energy farms are all feasible possibilities.

Geothermal power. Utilizing earth's core heat also has possibilities but is limited to underground steam field locations.

High elevation windmills, such as Rocky Mountain areas could be used to produce energy.

Reduction of oil use by mass and rapid transportation systems. Autos use 70% of the nation's gasoline and account for 60% of the air pollution.

Designing auto engines that will reduce both pollution and gasoline consumption.

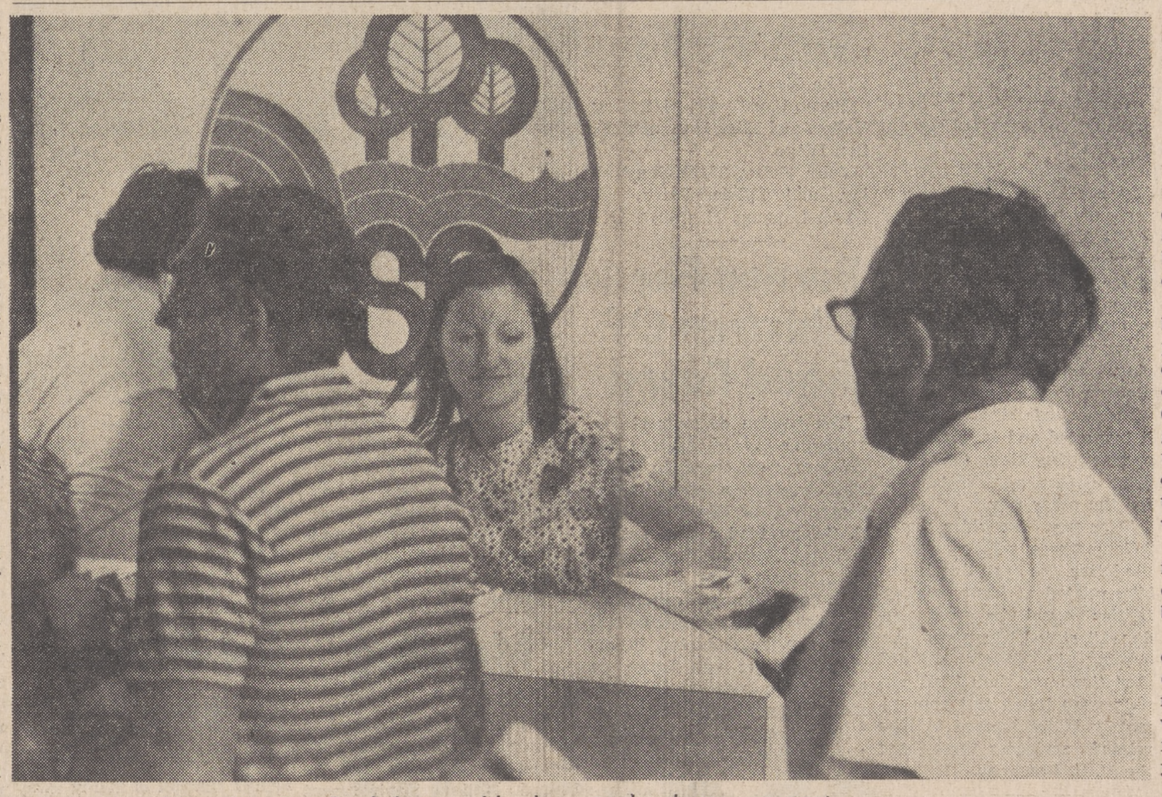
Acceptance Of Bid For Broadway Project Expected



COUPLE IN RUSSIA — Mrs. Gary Pergl above, and her husband, of 918 Glencoe st., Lemon Grove, are two of the 22 Russian-speaking young Americans accompanying the US Information Agency's exhibit, "Outdoor Recreation-USA" on its year long tour of Russia.
The exhibit had a 30 day run in Moscow and opened July 20 in Ufa. The exhibit will visit four other Soviet cities in the 12th presentation by the US under the US-USSR cultural exchange agreement.
Included in the exhibit are every facet of outdoor recreational life in the US such as boats, mobile homes, scuba diving equipment, camping gear and recreational vehicles. Representatives of the National Parks and Forest Service also present a slide show of various recreational facilities available in the US.

Construction Seen By Early September

The Broadway improvements that Lemon Grove has awaited for many years will become a reality when construction begins late this month or early next month.

Bids for the project have been received, with Daley Corporation submitting the lowest at $114,000. Anticipated cost of the project was $87,000. but state approval was granted last week to accept the bid in spite of the difference. The project is expected to take no more than 100 working days.

Acceptance of the low bid is expected to take place Tuesday, although the word could be as late as August 21.

If the bid is awarded soon, construction gets underway directly, and the project is not hampered by inclement weather, construction could be finished by the end of the year.

Meanwhile, the proposed Broadway landscaping project, which was earlier hoped to be undertaken at the same time as the road improvements, appears destined for a later time.

The latest step in the battle with red tape is slated for Tuesday when the County Board of Supervisors considers placement of the landscape service on a county service area previously approved for a six-area park at Massachusetts and Mt. Vernon.

The board will consider the move Tuesday and will set a public hearing, if all goes well. After the hearing it may be decided to place the measure before the voters.

Since local taxes are to be used to maintain the project, which will be constructed with gas tax money, it must be approved by the voters before it can be constructed.

It is expected that an election to set a tax rate for the proposed park will be held simultaneously with the landscape project, but the two tax rates will be separate. That means the voters could approve one of the projects while rejecting the other. By not tying the projects together, chances of passing one or the other are better.

Assault-Suicide In Lemon Grove

A 76-year old Lemon Grove man apparently committed suicide early last Thursday after his wife was seriously injured in an assault.

Found dead in the driveway of his home at 3843 Murray Hill rd., Lemon Grove, was Jesus F. Espinoza, who died of head injuries after apparently jumping from the roof of his home.

In serious condition at Grossmont Hospital was his wife, Rita Espinoza, 72. She was found in the bedroom of the residence suffering from a a head fracture and facial lacerations.

Reports from the Sheriff's Department indicated that deputies were called to the residence by a son, who said that an assault was taking place. When deputies arrived, Espinoza was found dead on the driveway.

Deputies investigating the crime found a bloodstained board which they think could be the assault weapon.

Increase In Security Due At Jennings

Three projects designated to increase the security of Lake Jennings were approved last Wednesday by the Helix Water District Board of Directors.

Based on recommendations from Byron Miller, Helix general manager, the board approved: closing of the road around the southern perimeter of the lake, except when the lake is open for trout fishing; construction of a six foot chain-link fence paralleling this road; and addition of fencing to close off the existing parking lot at the south abutment of the dam.

"Several recent incidents of vandalism and other unfortunate events convinced the board that additional measures were necessary to protect the water in the lake, the workmen and visitors to the area," said Miller.

"We are convinced that the changes we are making will not interfere with the enjoyment of the lake by respectable and responsible people," Miller added.

During the same meeting, the board also approved a staff recommendation to issue quarterly reports to interested people within the district.

SV Youth Sentenced To Five-Year Term

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Spring Valley youth who pleaded guilty to twice holding up the same El Cajon market was sent to state prison Wednesday in Superior Court for a minimum of five years.

Robert James Johnson, of 864 Galopago st., held up the Express Lane Market, at 410 E. Main st., on April 26 and 30. He had just been released from custody after conviction on the same charge and said he did it to get money to buy heroin. He also admitted using a firearm in the holdups.

Judge Louis M. Welsh thereby saving him from having to serve five more years. struck out the armed charge,

Helix Water District Eliminates Tax Rate

As anticipated in its 1973-74 budget approved June 29, the Helix Water District Board of Directors sitting as a Board of Equalization eliminated the property tax as a source of income for the district, except within the El Cajon Annex area.

Tax rate within the El Cajon Annex was set at $.491 per $100 assessed valuation, up $.017 from the 1972-73 rate. This rate applies to land only within portions of El Cajon which were formerly in the El Cajon Irrigation District.

In 1953, voters within that district approved a $2,750,000 bond issue to provide water service, and a merger between the Helix and El Cajon districts was approved by both groups of voters.

"Although it was agreed taxpayers within the El Cajon district would repay the bonds, the full faith and credit of the Helix district was pledged," explained Nat Eggert, Division 5 representative on the Helix board and an organizer of the El Cajon Irrigation Distict. "This assured a much lower interest rate than could otherwise have been obobtained."

"Original tax rate within the El Cajon Annex was over $2 per $100 assessed valuation," Eggert pointed out. "The rate is now less than 50 cents per $100 because of increased value of land within the community."

Assessed evaluation in the El Cajon Annex in 1953 was approximately 01.5 million. Present valuation is $18.7 million.

Bond service requirements for the year are $100,662.50.

Although there is no District-wide tax this year, delinquent taxes from previous years will still be collected by the District, Assessor-Collector-Treasurer Donald J. Shepard said.

Help Offered Senior Citizens

Special assistance is being offered to senior citizens who have not yet filed their claim for senior citizens property tax assistance.

A representative of the Franchise Tax Board will open a temporary office in Escondido at the Senior Citizens Center, 210 Park avenue next Thursday, according to State Controller, Houston I. Flournoy. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The assistance is a reimbursement of a portion of the 1972-73 property taxes paid, Flournoy said. The average payment in 1972 was $202. Approximately 292,000 senior citizens filed valid claims for 1972 and assistance payments of $59 million were made.

To be eligible for property tax assistance, claimants must be over 62 years of age as of January 1, 1972; must own and occupy their own home; must have paid the property taxes on the home; and must have an income of less than $10,000.

Qualified homeowners can obtain forms from any Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance office, at the temporary office noted above, or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento, CA 95807.

Sheriff's Men Give

The San Diego County Sheriff's Association contributed $1,000 to the Institute for Burn Medicine to be located at University Hospital.

The contribution was on behalf of all the deputy sheriffs in San Diego County, according to Deputy Pat Breen, president of the Association.

Recently, the Association contributed $8,000 to the Home of Guiding Hands in Santee. The latter funds came from a wristwrestling championship contest held at the Sports Arena.

Fotomat Booth Robbed By Armed Bandit

The Fotomat drive through booth at 7289 Broadway in Lemon Grove was the victim of an armed robbery last week, as a green-eyed knife-wielding bandit made off with $13.85.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Office, the suspect drove up to the booth in a small, older model foreign sports car, possibly English, faded red in color, about 7 p.m. last Tuesday evening.

After getting out of the car and approaching the window, the man displayed the knife and said "give me all your money or I'll cut your nose off."

After gettting the cash, he left southbound on Citrus st., in the sports car.

The suspect was described as a white male, in his 20's, about six feet tall, 150 pounds, with brown collar-length hair and a mustache, green eyes, green and black plaid hat, a green shirt, and black pants.

L.G. School Budget Approved With $1.246 Property Tax Cut

The Lemon Grove School District last night adopted the budget and salary schedule for the 1973-74 fiscal year. The new budget will amount to a tax rate equaling a savings $1.246 reduction in the local of over $75 on an average home valued at $25,000.

The budget itself will be an increase of $20,669 over last year's figures. The discrepency between the tax cut and the increased budget is caused by a decrease in state funding and an increase in local funds due to increased assessed valuation.

The tax cut is one of the largest in the County, but Lemon Grove had one of the higher tax rates to start with.

Salary schedules were approved for all district employees with classified employees receiving a 5.5% cost of living raise, and certificated employees taking a 5:75% raise, with the option of renegotiation if more money becomes available to the district.

Administrative salaries were approved on a sliding scale of teachers wages, with principals getting 1.35%, assistant superintendent of instruction, 1.75%; assistant superintendent of business, 1.57%; coordinator of pupil services, 1.2%; and district psychologist, 1.08%. A straight salary of $29,150 was approved for the district superintendent. A motion was made to review administrative salary policies at the Board's first meeting in October.

The senior citizens nutrition program application report stirred some controversy among board members. The program which is federally funded, provides two meals a day to senior citizens for a set price. It is being looked into as a joint venture with the County Parks and Recreation department.

The program would be staffed by and responsible to the Board but at no cost to the district. Board members James Dorman and Henry Reinecke felt that the board had not been adequately informed as to the district's role in the program, and requested an opinion from the County as to the school board's jurisdiction in this area.

Dorman was especially concerned over the district's liability in the program and said he'd "feel safer of we (the board) had a County opinion."

Trustee Warren Buckner stated that every member of the community is entitled to use school property, and "I'd just as soon get rid of the preschool as this program". The report was accepted for further research wth the stipulation to get the County opinion.

In other business, the Board received a report from Mrs. Ruth Pfister detailing the progress of the district food service from 1955 to the present day. The annual financial reports on special programs were also approved, along with the continuation of a work study agreement with Grossmont College. The preschool program was approved to continue through January 31 at which time federal funding will stop.

Bike Rules Suggested By SD Safety Council

A new 12 point set of safety suggestions has been released by the San Diego County Safety Council, according to David Thompson, executive vice president.

The suggestions are; obey all applicable traffic regulations; observe all local ordinances pertaining to bikes, such as licensing; drive single file with the traffic; be careful of drain grates, loose sand etc.; and watch for car doors opening, or cars pulling out into traffic.

Also suggested for bike riders are to be careful at corners, especially when making a left turn; don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with vision or control; never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicle; use hand signals when turning or stopping; and when driving at night use lights and reflectors.

Drive a safe bike, by having it inspected and in sound mechanical condition. And lastly drive defensively. Watch out for the other guy.

"If every bike rider would follow these safety rules to the letter, the appalling toll of bike related accidents and fatalities could be greatly reduced," stated Thompson. According to Safety Council statictics more than 1,100 persons were killed and approximately 50,000 injured in bike related accidents throughout the U. S. last year.

Burden For Children Of Aged Eased

The burden of support for aged parents by their adult children was eased in hardship cases last week when State Welfare Director David B. Swoap filed a new set of Old Age Security regulations with the secretary of state.

In addition to expanding the list of unusual expenses that can be deducted in arriving at the net figure on based, the new regulations make other changes aimed at a more equitable administration of the responsible relative law by the counties.

Under the old regulations, liability for support could be reduced under a hardship finding if the adult child had court ordered payment obligations, where failure to pay would result in his going to jail, institutional care payments for members of his immediate family, or medical or dental expenses not covered by insurance to the extent these exceeded three percent of his gross income.

The new regulations allow all medical expenses, including health insurance premiums, funeral expenses for family members, educational expenses, casualty losses not covered by insurance, and medical and household expenses made by a responsible relative to a parent not receiving OAS to be considered in determining hardship, in addition to the expenses previously considered.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor:

Congress is just about to blow $40 million of your hard earned tax dollars for the United Nations Environment Fund! This will cost you $2,300,000 in interest annually to boot.

Why in the name of common sense is Congress doing this when we don't have enough money for our very own environment? Maybe this stupidity can be headed off if every reader of this letter will sit right down now and write his Senators and Congressmen.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley,

Book-Give-Away Set by GUHSD

The Grossmont Union High School District is giving away approximately two tons of textbooks at their annual book giveaway tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Citizens of the community are invited to come to local high schools and select books from these outmoded, excessively worn, surplus books that are no longer useful to the school district instructional program.

Mount Miguel high school will be giving away approximately 2,000 books which will include such subjects as mathematics, American Government, psychology, geography, bookkeeping and business law.

El Cajon high school has about 1,400 books such as general business, buiness English, literature, grammar, algebra and trigonometry, general math, modern health, and others.

Granite Hills will be giving away nearly 670 books, many of which are English and American literature and social science textbooks.

Monte Vista has more than 650 books on home economics, social science, and Spanish. plus others on English and business.

Grossmont High is giving away 470 books which includes business law, journalim, French, and science.

El Capitan has approximately 300 books on business, French, Latin, home economics, science and others.

In previous years these books have been offered to pupils and citizens of the community at a central location. This year distribution centers have been established at the local high schools where the books are presently stored. This will cut down on labor costs of collection and organization, and will also assure all citizens fair access to the books.

Four Ostrich Eggs Hatched

Four South African ostrich chicks were hatched last week at the San Diego Wild Animal Park, the first such hatchings since the ostriches were received in January, 1971 from Botswana in southern Africa. The chicks, hatched from three-pound eggs, weighed between one pound and one pound , 13 ounces.

The last ostrich hatchings in the Zoological Society's collection occurred in February, 1967 at the San Diego Zoo.

Although ostrich eggs were laid last year, last week's were the first hatchings among the park's flock of 25 ostriches as the males reached maturity just this year. Also, last year's eggs, plus the first two dozen laid this year, were pulled from the field and sent for incubations at the San Diego Zoo's hospital

"After having no luck with the hospital incubator, we decided to try it the natural way," explained keeper Bob Grams. Fourteen eggs, laid by as many as a dozen female ostriches, were gathered into one nest. The dominant hen, acting as a day-care center, sat on the nest during the daylight hours of the 46-day incubation period.

"But at dusk the liberated female was off duty," Grams said, "and the dominant cock took up the night shift where he sat from dusk until 7 a.m." Ostrich coloration is adapted to suit this nesting behavior, the female having a dusty, varigated color which which will camouflage her during the day; the male's black color hides him and the nest from nocturnal predators.

Ostriches, which are the largest of all birds, may reach a height of eight feet and a weight of 300 pounds. In their native south and east African habitat, ostrich herds often mingle with zebra and antelope, but when threatened they may reach speeds up to 30-miles-an-hour.

Because the fragile new ostriches share their southern African home at the wildlife preserve with the Park's active herd of 21 southern white rhinos, six zebras, plus assorted curious antelope, the chicks were removed to the safety of the animal care center.

Constant attention at the care center will also assure the chicks of receiving a sufficient diet which includes shredded kale and cottage cheese. The four chicks will remain in the center for about three months until they are large enough to rejoin adult ostriches in their 125-acre open-air home.

Grams has been hearing scratching noises inside some of the remaining 10 eggs and is hoping there will be other hatchings this season.

Airline Ups Record

Air California carried a record 115,031 passengers in its sattelite markets during July and flew a total of 40,749,500 revenue passenger mile. These preliminary figures result in increases of 20.1% over a year ago according to Fred R. Davis, vice president of Market Development for the airline.

Traffic results for the first seven months of this year show 714,026 passengers carried compared to 604,907 for an 18% increase over the comparable 1972 period. Revnue passenger mile were 252,332,300 versus 215,521,400 for a 17.1% increase.

SV Church Members Aiding Alcoholics

A contingent of 26 high school students and six advisrs are spending this week in Parker, Arizona, on an annual work tour there, where the youngsters aid in the rehabilitation of alcoholics.

The group, from Trinity Presbyterian Church in Spring Valley, is working in conjunction with the Parker Valley Presbyterian Church. The youngsters worked all year to raise funds to finance the trip and make a donation to the project.

The group is expected to return to Spring Valley Sunday. Regular services at Trinity, 3902 Kenwood dr., Spring Valley, are scheduled for 10 a.m. Sunday.

Museum to Lead Baja Expeditions

The San Diego Natural History Museum will sponsor eight 6-day expeditions to Scammon Lagoon in Baja California to see the gray whale during the 1974 season.

These trips will also stop at several points including the San Benitos Islands near Cedros Island.

A boat will depart for Scammon Lagoon around December 25, January 3, 14, 21 and 29 and February 6, 14 and 22 from the Municipal Sportfishing Pier on Shelter Island in San Diego. All reservations and payments must be made to H & M Landing, 3803 Emerson st., San Diego. Roundtrip cost for one is $330.

Scammon Lagoon will be the focus of the expeditions. Here passengers can see newborn calves and courting adult whales and make studies of saltmarsh ecology and beachcomb extensively for shells. The lagoon itself is a fine example of a coastal tidal lagoon where sand-dunes are constantly forming and moving.

At San Benito Island, elephant-seals, sea-lions, land and sea-birds and a variety of plants can be observed. The geology of the area presents examples of complexly folded metamorphic rocks of Jurasric ages.

H & M will have special hand-outs of study material for those interested in the details of the natural history of the trip. A special program of study for credit will be provided by the Museum to those colleges and universities whose extension services wish to include such a trip.

For further information, contact H & M Landing, 224-1144.

Household Workers Eligible For Benefits

Almost one-third of the nation's household workers could be eligible for social security retirement benefits in seven years or less, according to Arlyn B. Carr, social security district manager in San Diego.

"Most women household workers are in their 40's, but 29 percent are over 55. These are the workers who could start getting retirement benefits in 7 years or less, " Carr said. A household worker can get reduced monthly social security retirement checks beginning at 62—or full benefit beginning at 65—if she has worked long enough in a job covered by social security.

A household worker's cash wages count for social security if she is paid $50 or more in a 3-month calendar quarter from one employer working as a maid, cook, cleaning woman, laundress, housekeeper, babysitter, etc., in someone else's home.

"To get the proper social security credit for her earnings," Carr said, "a household worker should be sure to give her employer her correct social security number. The employer is responsible for sending a report of wages paid and the social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service."

When the old kings of Siam wanted to give a present to a courtier they wished to ruin, they presented him with a white elephant and this is probably where the old saying regarding an item that is useless began.

Miguel Band to Sponsor Car Wash

A car wash to assist incoming students raise money for a post session music camp will be held Saturday by the Mt. Miguel High marching band. The wash is $1 and is to be in the school's front parking lot from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The camp, concluding a three week post session rehearsal for the Matador musicians, will be at Mataguay Boy Scout Camp in the Laguna Mountains, Aug. 21-25.

All new and returning students are now in the initial two week session of the rehearsals being held at Mt. Miguel under Band Director Dean Immel.

The rehearsals are to prepare for a rigorous fall schedule that includes a chance at performing in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade for the sixth time, more than any other San Diego area band.

Initial enrollment indicates this year's band will be the largest in school history, according to Immel. The Matadors will display a full complement of approximately 180 during concerts, football games and non-competition parades and will march a 98-piece band for competition parades.

Mt. Miguel's first outing will be at the Grossmont District Football Carnival, Sept. 14. The band will be featured at halftime of a San Diego Chargers' game, Sept. 23.

Rate Increases Granted SDG&E

The California Public Utilities Commission has granted San Diego Gas & Electric and three other California electric utilities rate increases to offset the higher cost of fuel.

The fuel adjustments are attributable to the higher cost of oil and to a reduction in gas availability, which necessitates use of higher priced fuels.

The San Diego Gas & Electric increase is $121 million a year and will result in a 14.7c raise in bills for the average residential usage of 300 kilowatt-hours per monh.

The increase became effective Wednesday.

Accident Injures Three

A three car accident at the corner of Broadway and Fairview sent three people to the hospital last Wednesday.

'Berkeley' Added to Fleet Of S.D. Maritime Musum

There's a heap of scraping, painting and glazing going on at the San Diego wharf but when it's finished there'll be a "brand-new", very-old attraction for relic boat-lovers and tourists.

The latest addition will be the Berkeley, a 289-foot ferry that plied that waters between San Francisco and Oakland at the turn of the century. It was recently purchased for $100,000 and given to the Maritime Museum Association of San Diego.

The Maritime Mueum will encourage contributions of another $400,000 to put the Berkeley back to spic-and-span shape. It will be added to the Star of India which cost about $100,000 to bring up to museum standards.

The Maritime Museum "fleet" will soon add another ship — the next one being the steam yacht Medea, according to Robert G. Sharp, museum association president.

Sharp said the work on the Berkeley should be such that the main deck can be opened to the public by the first of the year. The Medea, when it is added, will be ready for museum service. The $300,000 refurbishing cost is being paid for out of contributions already committed.

The three craft will then be tied together by gangplanks so that museum patrons may wander from one to the other for a single admission charge.

"No public funds are being used," president Sharp said. "So far we have had success with contributions." He admitted the concentrated activity made it necessary to ask contributions of those who have an interest in the museum. He may be reached at 239-062. or 291-7311, ext. 521.

The Berkeley was launched in 1898 to carry Southern Pacific railway passengers between Oakland to San Francisco because the rail line ended in Oakland.

It played a part in the evacuation of San Francisco during the 1906 earthquake and remained in ferry service in San Francisco Bay until 1958. For a while a number of small shops were built in her as a floating mini-shopping mart. It appeared headed for the scrap heap when rescued by San Diego folk.

The Medea was built in 1904 in Scotland. It is being decommissioned because of the expense of operating the steam yacht. It carries a crew of seven but can only accommodate ten guests.

The Star of India was built in 1863.

Potential museum income will maintain the fleet, Sharp said. M.G.

Youth Authority Wards Have Busy Summer

Although the fire season in California's forests and foothills is just beginning, California Youth Authority wards assigned to conservation camps have already racked up more than 51,000 man-hours fighting fires, compared with 53,000 hours during the entire 1972 season.

The fire-fighting wards are based at five camps — Ben Lomond, near Santa Cruz; Mt. Bullion, near Mariposa; Oak Glen, near Yucaipa; Pine Grove, near Jackson; and Washington Ridge, near Nevada City, but crews are dispatched to any part of the state when needed. The Youth Authority and the Division of Forestry jointly operate the camps, each of which houses approximately 80 Youth Authority wards.

California Youth Authority Director Allen F. Breed explained that wards are assigned to the camps on the basis of their need for work experience, although counseling and educational programs are also provided. The young men range from 18 to 21 years of age and generally remain in the camp from six to eight months. Most receive basic training in firefighting skills at the DeWitt Nelson Training Center in Stockton.

When they are not fighting fires, the young men participate in other tasks assigned by the Division of Forestry, including clearing streams, maintaining nature trails, constructing firebreaks and clearing roadsides of brush, as well as maintaining the camps and equipment. In the winter, they also perform snow-removal tasks. For their work, they receive stipends, varying with assignments, but averaging about 75 cents a day, plus 35 cents an hour for overtime on the fire lines.

Occasionally, some unique assignments are received by the camps; at Washington Ridge, for example, crews helped the local sheriff's office burn an acre of 12- to 15-feet high marijuana plants discovered in the county. Washington Ridge wards also participate frequently in search and rescue missions for drowning and plane-crash victims. Oak Glen has a unique bug crew who trim or cut down diseased or bug-infested trees, saving and beautifying many acres of wooded land, Breed added.

Work days at the camps run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., but one crew is always on call should a fire break out. A bus, fully equipped with tools, sleeping bags, water, and provisions, is kept ready at all hours. When a fire call is received, a crew can be on the way in three minutes. Evening hours are spent in classes and recreation when there are no fires.

In addition to providing vital manpower, trained and ready for fire-fighting, the conservation camps offer an opportunity for wards to learn to work, to care for and use tools, and to accept responsibility. For many of the young men, the camps provide their first experience with nature and their first chance to work under supervision. Generally, racial tensions, assaults, and escapes are less frequent in camps than in institutions, due in part to the necessity for cooperation on the fire lines and in the work projects, Breed said.

RUTH PFISTER

Two LGSD Workers Receive State Award

Two Lemon Grove School District Employees have been named "Employees of the Year" for 1973 by the California School Employees Association.

Mrs. Ruth Pfister, 7537 Davidson st., and W. L. Bartholomew, 1630 Cameron dr., were among six classified school employees honored yesterday at a special luncheon during CSEA's 47th annual conference in San Diego.

Mrs. Pfister, who has been district food services director for 25 years, was named food services Employee of the Year. Bartholomew, buildings and grounds foreman, was named maintenance services Employee of the Year.
Both are members of CSEA's Lemon Grove Chapter 280.

Mrs. Pfister built the food services department from just a shack on the playground to its present eight modern locations.

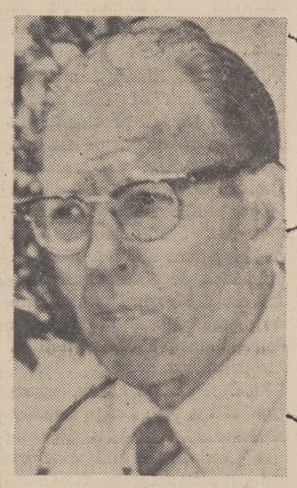
She has been president of the California Food Services Association and is now a state director of that association. She is currently working with the State Department of Education to provide a specially designed educational certification program for food services employees through adult education college programs.

In addition to her job responsibilities, Mrs. Pfister teaches food services classes at local junior colleges.

Mrs. Pfister has also developed an on-the-job training program and periodic eight-week seminars for food services employees in the district.

Bartholomew has worked for the district for 23 years. He became foreman of buildings and grounds in 1960.

A former building contractor, Bartholomew has saved the Lemon Grove taxpayers thousands of dollars through the engineering, design and direction of all maintenance operations and special building projects.



W. L. BARTHOLOMEW

He has served as vice president, salary chairman and conference delegate for Lemon Grove Chapter 280. He has been judge for the school bus drivers' "roadeo" and has helped train new drivers by setting up practice courses.

CSEA represents some 57,000 business managers, secretaries, bus drivers, maintenance employees, food services employees and other classified employees in the California public schools.

Judges for the competition were Dr. James Rowe, associate superintendent for business and instructional services for the Santa Barbara County schools; Mrs. Robert Eyre, Santa Barbara area representative for the American Field Service; and John Timmons, Santa Barbara businessman.

Curator Named For Natural History Museum

Josephine L. Scripps has been named Curator of Minerology at the San Diego Natural History Museum.

In her new position, Miss Scripps hopes to see the Museum's gem collection enlarged. Currently, the most desirable local specimens are being bought by large American and European museums. Last month a tourmaline collection from the Queen Mine in Pala sold for $50,000 and the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. paid $7,000 for a single specimen five years ago.

The American Museum in New York, the Royal Ontario Museum in Canada along with Belgian and French institutions are buying tourmaline, beryls, morganites, spodumene and aquamarine in amounts of $40,000 to $100,000.

In an effort to stem this flow, Miss Scripps hopes to alert San Diegans to the loss by writing short histories of the actively producing gem mines of the area. San Diego County's position as the world's third-best gem producing area is exceeded only by Tsumeb, southwest Africa and Minas Gerais, Brazil. Both these areas are vastly larger than San Diego County.

Included in the histories will be the Himalya Mine in Mesa Grande, the Little Three Mine in Ramona, The White Queen, Queen and Stewart-Lithia Mines of Pala and a few of the old gold mines. According to Miss Scripps, however, most of the gold mines are, in effect, dead. She will include a calcite mine in Borrego State Park.

A native of San Diego County, Miss Scripps was graduated from the University of Washington, Seattle. Since then she has divided her time between her two major interests — ranching, at her home in San Luis Rey, and minerology. She is a member of the San Diego Mineral and Gem Society and has exhibited in most of the rock shows along the west coast.

Promotions at State

Some 28 San Diego State professors who reside in East County have been promoted to the next academic rank at the university effective September 1.

Promotions at California State University are made twice a year and are based on length of service, teaching qualities, and scholaristic activities.

Spring Valley professor Calvert E. Norland was promoted to full professor rank, while Kenneth D. Dimmick, of Spring Valley, and Dennis C. Scheck, of Lemon Grove, obtained associated professor status.

Lime-Yellow Fire Engine Being Tested

The California Division of Forestry is testing the tradition of red fire engines with a new lime-yellow truck in Northern California.

Cash Hooper, safety coordinator for the Division of Forestry, said that red is the traditional color for fire engines, "but it's probably no more than tradition. Actually, the first fire engines in the country were painted blue."

The arguments for lime-yellow, according to Hooper, are that the new color is more visible during both day and night, and that the sound of a siren decreases a person's sensitivity to red.

Also tested in the new engine are a four-wheel drive automatic transmission, and a special five-man cab to protect fire fighters from heat, cold, and smoke.

The truck is currently stationed in Lake County, but will move to San Diego County in September.

Unemployment Figures Unchanged From June

California's employment and unemployment situation in July was unchanged from June, according to figures released last week by Dwight Geduldig, director of the department of human resources development.

The number of unemployed, including those looking for their first job, such as June graduates and other youth looking for summer work, was 495,000 in July, the same as in June.

The usual layoff of non-contract employees of schools during the summer vacation was partly offset by increased hiring by seasonal industries such as construction, canning and other processing of farm output and tourist-related industries, he said.

Gulls Training Camp Relocates in Bellingham

Gullniks won't have too far to go to see the San Diego Gulls in pre-season practice which starts Sept. 12.

Last year the training camp was in Trail, British Columbia and several car loads of fans visited the camp, general manager Max McNab said.

This year's camp will be at Bellingham, Washington, about 60 miles north of Seattle, and more visitors are anticipated.

In Bellingham, the Gulls play at the new Ice Arena, home of the local franchise in the British Columbia Junior Hockey League. "We receive tremendous support from the community," he said. And now he may have an invasion of San Diegans. "We'll welcome them," McNab said.

Three of the Gulls pre-season games will be played in the Bellingham Ice Arena. The first will be the initial game of the exhibition season. Portland's Buckaroos will provide the opposition in the game to be played Friday night, September 21. San Diego will battle the Springfield Kings of the AHL on Wednesday the 26th and the Seattle Toems will faceoff against the Gulls on Friday night, September 28.

The remaining games of the Gulls pre-season schedule will be announced in the very near future.

For the past three years Trail has been the San Diego training site.

"We are leaving Trail with regrets because the entire operation and facilities have been excellent," said McNab. "However, we do have to have professional competition in determining the ability of our younger players. Bellingham is very close to Victoria, which is the training site of the Los Angeles Kings and their farm clubs Portland and Springfield. Seatle will be finalizing their training camp plans very soon and they will be working out in the area."

Jim Hitt Wins Main Event at Cajon Track

Super Stock car champion, Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove, became the first four time main event winner last Saturday night at Cajon Speedway.

Hitt's 1967 Chevy 11 won the 30 lapper by a car length over top point leader John Dineen.

Hitt started third in the 20 car field, took over the lead from Tim Biggers of El Cajon on lap five and held on in a two car duel to the flag.

The first yellow came on the fourth lap when Benny Gallo of El Cajon and Ed Hale of Lemon Grove bashed sides and spun into the wall on the front straight just short of turn one. Hale's car had to be towed away.

On the twelfth lap, Ron Esau of San Diego and Carl Simon of El Cajon tangled bumpers and spun causing Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley and

JIM HITT

Earl Maas to collide and spin on the back straight trying to get around the first tangle.

On the 17th circle, Lanny Pemberton of Lemon Grove blew an engine coming into with Eddie Cardoza of Santee both spinning into the wall because of the oil slick.

Pemberton was taken to the hospital for X-rays for possible hip, spine and skull injuries. The accident occurred just a few feet from where Hoffman broke his leg in an accident two weeks ago.

Hitt moved closer to second place with his win, but lost 20 points to second place and points leader Dineen. Dineeen came from 14th for his second place finish and Crossland who came from 11th to third had his best night by taking both the dash and fast heat. Joy Swentkofske continues to dominate the powder puff by taking fast time and the main event for her fifth consecutive week.

This Saturday, 65 cars are expected for qualifying at 6:30 p.m. in hopes of capturing one of the 20 places to be filled in the run for the big money.

Purses continue to set records over 1971 at Cajon as the Super stocks show they are the class of the San Diego County scene, setting times lower than the NASCAR late model stocks, as they burn up the track.

Track officials announced this Saturday night will be a "Camera Night". Fans should bring their cameras as top drivers and their cars will be at the starting line during intermission and available for photos.

Sky Grove All Stars Miss Tournament Win

Sky Grove Pony League's all-star team nearly accomplished an incredible feat last week by winning four tournaments in a row after losing in the opening round.

But the incredible didn't happen, as Sky-Grove bit the dust twice to a fine Garden Grove team.

In the opener, a pair of first-inning errors turned out to be the difference for the local team, as a walk and an error put two Garden Grove runners on. A throwing error then allowed two runs in.

In the fourth inning, the local group came roaring back with three hits. Craig Leonetti doubled and went to third base on a single by Chris Flores. A single by John Young scored Leonetti, but Flores and Young were stranded. Garden Grove coasted the rest of the way to a 2-1 victory.

In the second game, Sky-Grove came out hammering and won it easily, 10-2. The two runs scored by the Arizona team were unearned, as Chris Flores twirled a two-hitter for Sky-Grove to eliminate the out-of-state squad.

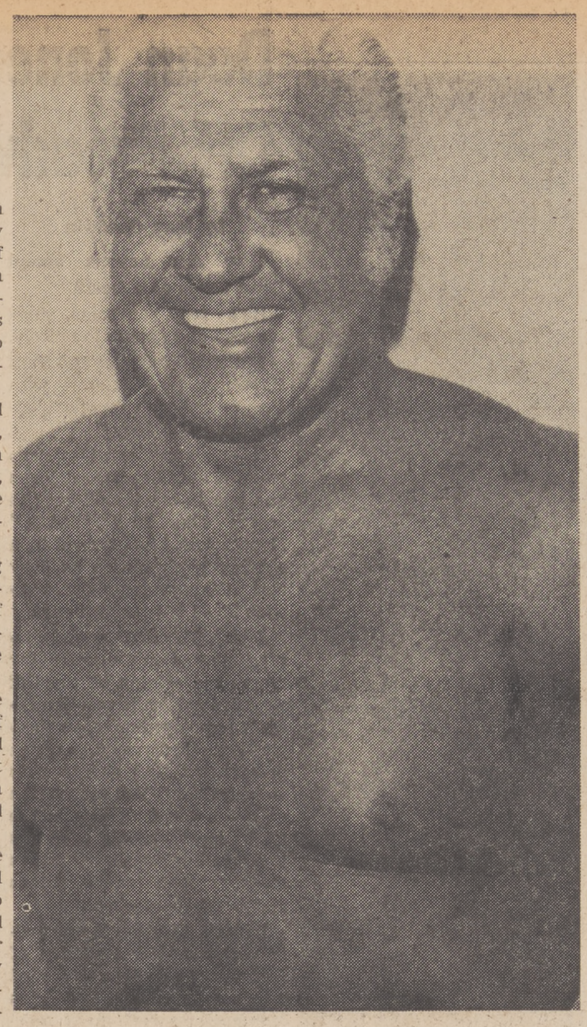
Earl Ritchey took the mound in the third game, against Encanto of San Bernardino. Ritchey belted a pair of doubles to aid his own cause and was driven in by Leonetti for the first run of the game. Bob Schneider, John Barrow and Mike Neagle collaborated for two more runs later in the game. San Berdoo got to Ritchey for a lone tally in the sixth to make it 3-1.

With just Garden Grove and Sky-Grove left in the tourney, it looked as though the fourth game would be a good, one, considering how elose the opening game was and Sky-Grove's comeback history.

But Sky-Grove's magic bag was out of miracles, as Garden Grove picked up a pair of runs on three walks and a single in the first inning to take a 2-0 lead.

Sky-Grove tied it up in the second inning on a pair of walks and two singles, and nearly took a ne-run lead, but Bob Schneider was out on a close play at the plate to end the inning.

The sixth inning was the end of the line for the local team, as a single, a walk, two errors, a hit batter, a wild pitch and a three-run homer left Garden Grove in front by a 7-2 count. Garden Grove added two more runs in the seventh to make the final read 9-2.



FREDDIE BLASSIE

Wrestling Returning to Coliseum—So is Blassie

Professional wrestling, enjoying a comeback at the San Diego Coliseum, should get an additional boost Tuesday, when popular, and hated, Freddie Blassie returns to action here after an absence of nearly two years.

Blassie is a unique figure in the grunt and groan sport having an almost equal number of fans who dislike him strongly as those who almost worship him.

At one time he was noted for his ruthless tactics in the ring (including biting) and there were several attempts on his life by fans in various parts of the country (one did manage to cut him with a knife after a bout in Los Angeles a few years back).

But like most people, Blassie has perhaps mellowed a bit with age and now finds himself in the role of the "good guy" who comes to town to clean out all the "bad guys".

Still one of the big money-makers in the game, Blassie has endured a number of serious injuries in and out of the ring. In 1965 he had to have a kidney removed in Hawaii after an injury while wrestling and two years ago was nearly blinded when an opponent tossed an acid in his face (taken from a doctor's medicine bag).

For several weeks fans at the Coliseum have been asking "When's Blassie coming back?" A lot of his followers (and some who dislike him) will be on hand Tuesday night when Freddie Blassie returns.

3,217 Fans Watch Champion's Workout

by Max Goodwin

The world's heavyweight champion — George Foreman — came to San Diego Friday night and fight fans numbering 3,217 jammed into the New Coliseum to see him exhibit his prowess.

Foreman faced Billy Ryan of Fresno for four rounds then Mike Weaver, of Los Angeles. In their fear of being hit they mostly assumed the womb position as the 25-pounds-overweight champion cat-and-moused Ryan for four rounds and Weaver for two.

This embarrassed Foreman to such an extent that he did a take-off on Muhammad Ali, pretending to be staggered by a blow that didn't come close, then draping himself over the lower rope, on his back, as though knocked out. At least it took the spotlight off his opponents for a few minutes. Fans shouted "Ali, Ali". This was mystifying in that most of the fans came to see an exhibition as opposed to a fight. Maybe they booed because it wasn't much of an exhibition, either.

Foreman came in at 245 pounds and his appearance here was to re-accustom him to the smell and sound of the crowd as he starts to wind down to 225 as he must when he meets his September 1 commitment against Joe "King" Roman in Tokyo with his title at stake.

Fight fans may find in Foreman a capable, popular battler so desperately needed in the fight business. He said he would fight the Coliseum exhibition without headgear. He did. He said he wouldn't exhibit here, he'd fight. It wasn't his fault he overawed his opponents. They weren't about to stand still and get clobbered.

Foreman is formidable. He is intelligent, quick and powerful. He is a champ with the aura of a champ. Coliseum fans were misguided in their booing.

The main go was a pleasant little thing. Jimmy Heair didn't make it to the fights because of a toothache. He would have had a headache, too, if he had been there.

Matchmaker Mickey Davies had re-called Mike Mayon to replace Heair against Lobito Montoya after Heair cancelled because of a toothache. Heair and Mayon had fought a bruising battle two weeks earlier. Although Heair, ranked no. 4, got the decision, Mayon bloodied his nose.

So when Heair goes against Montoya next week, Heair may end up with a headache contributed by Montoya in what may be the season's best lightweight 10-round matchup.

In other fights on the card Friday, light heavy Gustavo Perez of Hollywood was a decision winner over Ron Lignon of San Diego in a 5-rounder. Rudy Acuna of Los Angeles took a decision over lightweight Manuel Castillo of Dulzura.

Blackout Prohibition Aim of Burgener Bill

Local television blackouts of sporting events which are sold out in advance would be prohibited if a bill co-authored by Congressman Clair W. Burgener is enacted.

Burgener's bill would prohibit local television stations, national network or cable television systems from honoring a commitment to avoid broadcasts of sold-out games in the area in which they are played.

"There are millions of Americans who are denied the pleasure of seeing their local National League football team on television because of an arbitrary rule of the League which fails to take into account the unavailability of tickets," said Burgener.

The bill would apply to professional football, baseball, basketball and hockey games which are sold out forty-eight hours in advance. The prohibition would be effective for one year as a trial period. After that year the Congress could extend the provision if it was considered a success.

Similar legislation has already passed the Senate Commerce Committee. Action by both Houses would be required for the bill to become law.

Unitas Provides Bright Spot in Charger's Play

Editor's Note: High school junior Frank Castro will be co-editor of the sports page of the school newspaper EL TROVADOR at Mount Miguel High school this fall.

He was the guest of the San Diego Chargers football team, jointly with Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic society.

Castro occupied a press box seat at the Stadium Saturday, met the town's sports writers and sportscasters, dined with them, and attended a press conference with coach Harlan Svare after the game. This is his story.

By Frank Castro

Johnny Unitas and the San Diego Chargers made their 1973 football debuts Saturday night in Mission Valley.

The 40 year old quarterback's appearance, although brief, was encouraging. For the rest of the Chargers it was a long evening, as the New York Giants coached by Alex Webster rallied over the Chargers 28-3.

Unitas' play was limited to 10 first quarter plays, giving way to young Wayne Clark and rookie Tony Adams the rest of the game. He was 3 for 4 for 45 yards, and to the pleasure of the 43,045 fans who attended and Coach Harland Svare, the living legend can still fire them when he has to.

While the Charger offensive couldn't get moving throughout the night, the Giant offense did. They marched under, over and through the Chargers for 453 yards. New York quarterbacks Norm Snead and Randy Johnson completed 27 of 34 passes. Touchdowns were scored by T. E. Ballman on a 7 yard pass by Snead, a Vin Clements seven yard run, Randy Johnsons 2 yard scramble, and a running back Jack Kizto 2 yard reception of a pass thrown by Johnson.

The Chargers lone score came on a 25 yard Gunter Enz field goal in the third quarter.

Many key players from both teams saw little or no action. The Giants withheld tight end Bob Tucker and running back Ron Johnson. Mike Garrett and Cid Edwards of the Chargers also did not play.

Both head coaches wanted a look at the players as over 130 players played at one time or another.

Chargers vs. Cardinals

Don Coryell Comes Home

There should be a ticket crunch at the Chargers-Cardinals football game Saturday if all of Don Coryell's San Diego admirers show up — and his admirers are legion.

Coryell gave up the serenity of college football coaching at San Diego State for pro football alley fighting. He makes his pro head coach debut—where else?—at the great S.D. Stadium Saturday at 8 p.m. The Chargers, with 39,024 season tickets sold and paid for, should have little difficulty in going over 45,000.

Last year the two teams had identical standings. Each was 4-9-1. But the Chargers were AFC West last; the Cardinals AFC East fifth.

Seven former Chargers are with the Cardinals. Probable starters are wide receiver Walker Gillette, defensive tackle John Richardson, linebacker Jeff Staggs and cornerback Miller Farr. Reserves are running back Leon Burns, linebacker Pete Barnes and cornerback Jim Tolbert. Gillette (1970) and Burns (1971) were No. 1 draft choices of San Diego.

On his coaching staff, Coryell has former Charger assistant Jackie Simpson and his own former Aztec aides Rod Dowhower, Joe Gibbs, Sid Hall and Jim Hanifan. Former Cal head coach Ray Willsey completes the all-new staff.

Joining Staggs as former Aztec players with the Big Red are receivers Tim Delaney and Mary Owens, defensive tackle Martin Imhof and linebacker Bill Leeuwan.

The Chargers make their first road trip August 19, when they travel to San Francisco to meet the 49ers at Candlestick Park in a 1 p.m. game.

Dean Jones Shows Class in Off Broadway's 'Pal Joey'

by Max Goodwin

How can anyone accept Dean Jones as a heel?

He's too handsome, sings too well and dances too nicely.

But Don Wortman and Tom Hartzong give it a try with their current Off Broadway attraction "Pal Joey."

It seems shameful to carp when a star has Jones' looks and talents but it isn't easy to accept him as a "baddie." Nonetheless, he turned in a sterling performance as Joey and the opening-night audience loved his performance.

John O'Hara's award-winning play didn't wander far from the origins of the Off Broadway when it was San Diego's premiere burlesque theatre — the Hollywood — which could boast "ten chorus girls — count 'em." The association with the theatre's past is the "Pal Joey" boasts a chorus line of burlesque-type cuties complete with bumps, grinds and burley-cue jokes.

Patricia Morison is unusually well-cast. Her rendition of Rodgers and Hart musical numbers is outstanding. Miss Morison appeared in 27 movies before turning to the stage to star in Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate" for four years.

An attractive newcomer to Off Broadway is youthful, peaches-and-cream Dana Swenson whose singing voice sounded weak opening night. As Linda, she attempts to convert Joey from heel to man — but fails.

The play hasn't much substance but who needs it with Rodgers and Hart music?

Night Club Setting

Joey is a deceitful, self-centered night club performer of the 1930s who is perpetually on the make for babes and money though not necessarily in that order.

He ocillates in his attention between Miss Swenson (Linda) a pure, wholesome working girl and Miss Morison (Vera), a wealthy, overbearing, sex-minded matron who prefers to share her pad with Joey than with some of her other male playmates.

The conclusion is obvious. Vera dumps him after blowing a bundle on him. He rejects the lovely Linda partly because she isn't pad-prone but mostly because she doesn't come equipped with a lot of money. In the end he is out of work, out of money and out of luck — so he trails off into the night answering the beckoning gestures of an aging street walker.

Dee Ann Johnston (Gladys) is gaining fame as a shrewdly, dumb blonde in her fifth appearance at Off Broadway. In addition she is the show's choreographer and her chorus line, for middle-aged burlesque buffs, may very well be the high-spot in the show.

Local Stars on Program

Fred Sherman (Mike) the beleaguered nightclub owner for whom Joey works, will be remembered by east county residents for his performances at the Valley Theatre in El Cajon.

Albert Sklar (Ludlow), as a racketeer, is fine. He has performed in San Diego at Circle Arts, Starlight and Old Globe.

And who can knock the tunes of Richard Rodgers? Nigel Barber (Victor) has a whale of a voice. He is joined by Dee Ann Johnston in singing such favorites as "Flower Garden of My Heart" and "Zip".

A personal preference is Jane A. Johnston (Melba) a chorine who is assigned the role of doing a strip-tease. It becomes one of the hilarious scenes of "Joey".

"Pal Joey" is grand summer fare. A pleasant play with pleasant music performed by a cast of outstanding professionals makes it a show that everyone should see.

Increase in Deaths Seen For Boaters

The Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, the state's boating agency, last week released a report showing an alarming upward trend in California boating fatalities over last year. The report cites 67 deaths in the first six months of 1973, compared to 50 for the same period last year.

Guy M. Ricksecker, Boating Safety Supervisor, said, "We are suddenly experiencing a greatly increased number of deaths per accident. While there is a 12 percent drop in boat accidents and an even larger drop in injuries, the fatalities are up. This upsurge mainly involves canoes, kayaks, rubber rafts and other manually propelled vessels.

"For the first six months of 1972, we had only two reported deaths in this category. In the same period this year, we have had 24 such fatalities. Canoeists, kayakers and other such boatmen alone have accounted for 36 percent of all of the state's boating fatalities so far this year.

"Not enough emphasis can be placed on the use of common sense on California waterways. We will be doing all we can to alert the public of the consequences of boating carelessness. Also, we are asking boatmen to exercise extra caution during these summer months when accidents are more likely to happen," he said.

The department is preparing a free safety pamphlet for canoe and kayak enthusiasts. It will be available soon from the Department of Navigation and Ocean Development, 1416 Ninth Street, Room 1336, Sacramento, 95814.

Fifteen Liberty ships, used to carry troops overseas in World War II, will be used as fishing reefs in the Gulf of Mexico by Alabama, Mississippi and Florida.

Carter Featured On Organ For Film Program

Nationally-known organist Gaylord Carter will be featured in a special silent film, sing-along and organ show Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Southland Music Center, 3459 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

Carter's musicianship can be traced to a thorough background in the classics. He began his career at Grauman's Million Dollar Theatre. Then followed the Downtown Paramount, United Artists, Warners' Hollywood, and the Egyptian. He played for numerous radio programs beginning in 1936 and is probably most remembered for his accompaniment of the Amos n' Andy Show.

Carter's talents are still in demand today. He has been working on a show to be aired next fall on ABC called "History of the Movies" as well as writing the score for a new NASA film titled "The History of Space Exploration." He recently played two programs in France after completing a two month tour of Australia. He presented the first silent movies in the new Century II auditorium in Wichita and received a standing ovation after a special concert at the Hammond Castle in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

Carter's program for Southland Music will include some short silent subjects in addition to the Buster Keaton film, "The General."

Tickets are available by mail, ata the box office the evening of the performance or by phoning 463-0308 between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. daily. Reservations are recommended.

BankAmericard Billing Up To All-Time High

Worldwide billings of the BankAmericard program increased by 40% to an all-time mid-year high of $3,344,919,000, K. V. Larkin, Bank of America senior vice president, reported last week.

Of this total, Larkin said, $2,636,875,000 were billings of National BankAmericard Incorporated member banks throughout the U.S., up 35%, and $708,044,000 of BankAmerica Service Corporation licensees abroad, a gain of 62%.

Bank of America's BankAmericard billings in California amounted to $510,497,000 for the first six months of 1973, an increase of 21% over the $421,860,000 for the same period last year.

At June 30, more than 32,570,000 cardholders were in the world-wide BankAmericard program, compared with 29,190,000 a year earlier.

Of the total cardholders, 24,389,000 were cardholders of NBI member banks in the U.S., and 8,181,000 represented cardholders of foreign licensees.

Bank of America had 3,094,000 cardholders in California, and 146,000 merchant outlets.

UC Course To Upgrade Skills Of Specialists

The hospital patient struggling to breathe will benefit soon from the results of a new University of California continuing education course.

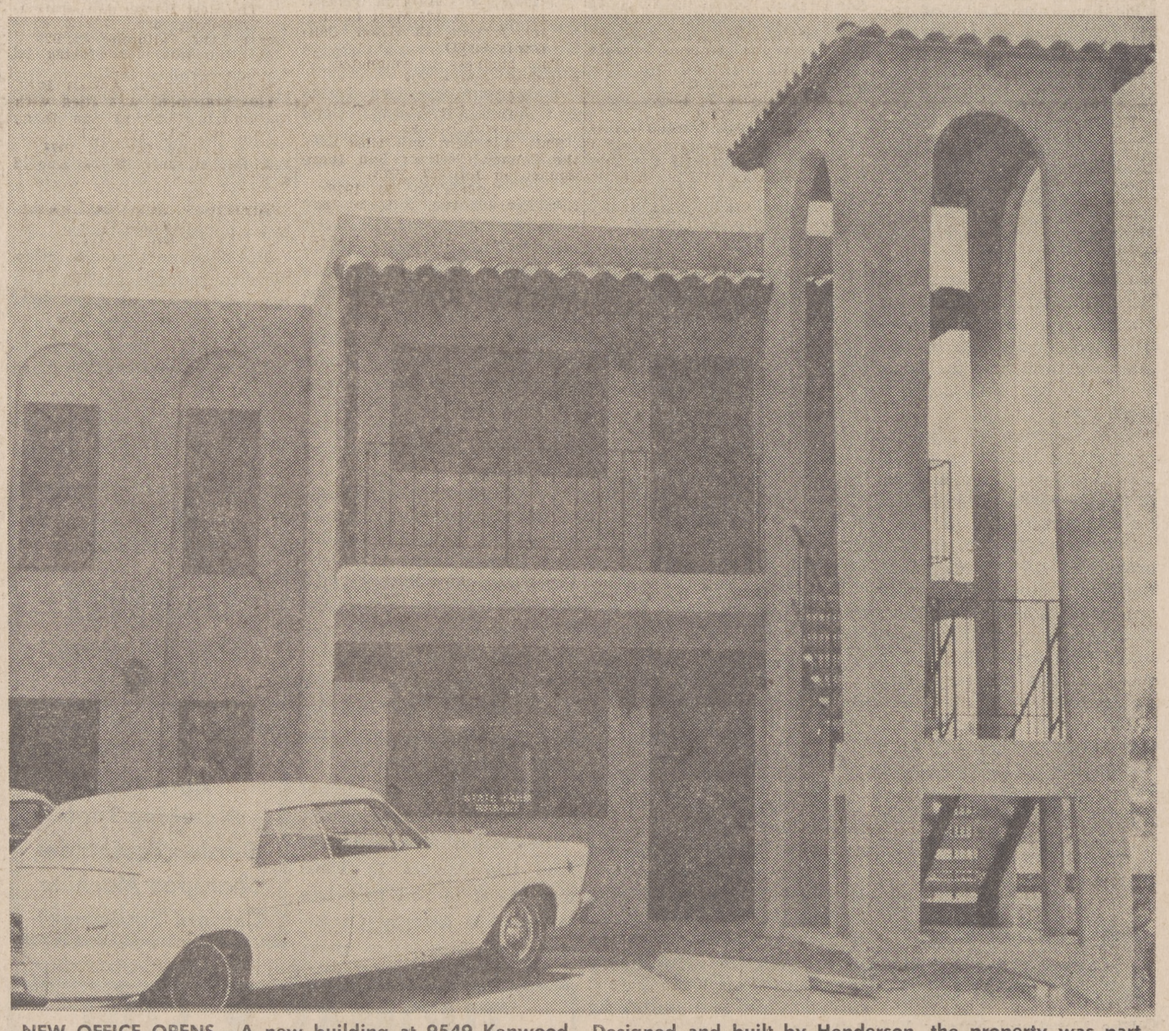
San Diego and Imperial Counties Christmas Seal dollars are backing the 10-unit 2-quarter course, which will upgrade professional skills of those caring for respiratory patients. New approaches will be developed for more effective care of those suffering lung distress.

Pat Hansen, R.N., and Carol Archibald, R.N., are course coordinators, in addition to their regular duties as Pulmonary Nurse Specialists at University Hospital.

Comprehensive management of breathing disorders is carried out by members of the disciplines from which students are being sought for this course: registered nurses, licensed vocational nurses, respiratory therapists and physical therapists.

The course will be a cooperative community program offered through the Office of Continuing Education, UCSD School of Medicine and the Regional Medical Program.. It begins September 12.

Persons interested in registering should call Mrs. Shirley Brandt at 453-2000, extension 2705.



NEW OFFICE OPENS — A new building at 9549 Kenwood dr., Spring Valley houses the offices of the designer of the building Ellsworth Henderson, of State Farm Insurance, and a Certified Public Accountant, Robert Bednor.
Also expected to move in soon are Mr. and Mrs. Don Richards, of Valle de Oro Real Estate Company.
Designed and built by Henderson, the property was part of the County surplus and was bought on a bid basis.
Henderson has donated the section of land on the corner to the Casa de Oro Business Association, who will put up a gateway sign welcoming people to Casa de Oro. Construction on the sign could begin within 60 days.

Sheriff Training Not Bad For Marines

The San Diego County Sheriff's Department has been selected as a model department for police training by the Marine Military Police Detachment at K-Bay, Hawaii.

The Provost Marshal, Major A. P. Sgambelluri, assigned two of his key personnel to spend one week on the mainland with Sheriff John Duffy's training staff to observe police training methods and procedures.

Staff Sergeant Normal Lundquist and Gunnery Sergeant Alfred Patty pointed out the similarity in military and civilian police tasks. "We have a good training program presently," said Sergeant Patty, "but we heard the Sheriff in San Diego County has one of the best academies going, and we wanted to check it out first hand."

The Marines were assigned to Ralph Landmesser, one of the Academy's staff instructors, and were schooled in combat shooting, legal and moral philosophies of firearms use, and the problem areas of instructing students.

What did the sergeants think of their week's training? "You haven't seen the last of us Landmesser," said Sgt. Patty. "We are coming back and taking the whole 18-week Academy."

GUHSD Loses $1,200,000 Earmarked For Valhalla

The Grosmont Union High School District will not be able to levy a 28.5 cent property tax rate for 1974-75, the third year of the assessed rate. The district will lose $1.2 million dollars earmarked for Valhalla High School as a result of the amendment to school tax bill SB 90.

Dr. John Barrons, assistant superintendent, explained that the amendment dealt with any school district whose tax override expires in 1973-74, and who had spent general purpose tax money for capital outlays in 1972-73. That district can not include the tax money as revenue in the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The tax rate was originally set to raise funds for the ninth high school, but was hiked last year when the district dipped into the revenue for general purposes.

The action comes as a major financial setback to the district who will now have to reduce their total budget and redirect certain items. The 1974-75 budget will be reviewed in September to see what has to be done.

Peacetime Vets to Get Higher Benefits

Out of a total of 217,000 veterans in Southern California who served during the peacetime period, February 1, 1955 to August 4, 1964, all those with service-connected disabilities will receive higher benefits.

Gordon R. Elliott, Director of the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Regional Office said August checks will reflect the increases brought about by legislation that equalized compensation rates for peacetime and wartime disabilities.

Before the law was enacted, peacetime veteras were paid 80 percent of rates allowed wartime veterans.

As of May, 2.2 million veterans, including 191,400 peacetime veterans, were on VA compensation rolls, nationwide.

Compensation is paid on a sliding scale ranging from $28 monthly for disabilities rated 10 percent, to $495 for total disability. Some veterans with certain severe disabilities receive additional payments which run as high as $1,232 monthly, plus allowances for dependents of veterans rated 50 percent or more disabled.

Refunds to be Given Patients of Hospital

The cost of living council announced that Doctors Hospital of San Diego has agreed to make refunds of prices charged in excess of allowable freeze prices.

Bert Concklin, deputy director of the cost of living council's special freeze group said that patients of Doctors Hospital will receive refunds in excess of $30,000. The hospital has voluntarily agreed to roll-back prices that were implemented June 10, 1973.

The action resulted from an investigation by the Internal Revenue Service. The IRS said that the overcharge for services amounted to $30,829.35 collected during the period June 10 through June 24, of this year.

Recycling. Aluminum for example. It requires only 5% of the energy to recycle aluminum as it does to produce it from bauxite.

But interim measures are necessary. The Trans-Alaska Pipeline (TAP) can keep this country running for 2 to 4 years more than with presently available resources.

Other interim measures: Keep independent dealers in business to keep prices in line.

Conserve gasoline. Most feasible idea offered in reduction of speed maximums. It would conserve fuel, reduce pollution and save lives.

Make energy-saving popular. If honest and believable leadership ever comes to this nation, citizens would consider it a patriotic responsibility to cut off lights, take less trips by personal auto, reduce some of the waste that goes for heat and air conditioning.

But it's hard to sell such a program to the people when Washington bureaucrats keep air-conditioning going day and night over holiday week-ends in under-roof parking facilities while part of the eastern states are suffering a brown-out.

20 Ecological Viewing Areas Due In California

Twenty new roadside ecological viewing areas are now springing up at selected safety roadside rests and vista points in various parts of the state. Two are already completed and the remaining 18 will be completed within weeks.

Roadside ecological viewing areas acquaint viewers with particular ecological features of the area. For example, at the Boron REVA one can read of borax deposits and other minerals mined in the area, why the Joshua Tree and the pronuba moth cannot exist without each other, how plant and animal life make unique adaptations in order to survive in the arid desert; and what climatic and topographic conditions exist there and statewide to comprise the sttae's nine "landscape provinces".

The permanent displays fulfill a need born of today's increased consciousness of ecological considerations. Generally, the REVA unit consists of six plaques, mounted on a circular standard. The plaques visually relate unique local environmental characteristics; touching upon geologic, topographic, wildlife, and similar interests.

Messages are brief and factual, imparting an awareness of how localized and statewide environmental factors interrelate not only with each other, but with the reader himself; and of the direct effects of daily human activities upon various aspects of the environment, and vice-versa.

The REVA program is financed by a $150,000 allocation from environmental license plate funds, which are earmarked for environmental projects. Administration of the ELP program is shared by the State's Resources Agency and Business and Transportation Agency. The REVA units are constructed by the California Department of Transportation.

An estimated 15,000 to 30,000 motorists per day will benefit from the Roadside Ecological Viewing Areas, as they stop at those locations currently selected for participation in the program.

The 20 REVA units funded under this project are located at safety roadside rests or vista points in San Bernardino, Santa Barbara and Kern counties in Southern California; and in San Mateo, Marin, Solano, Placer, Lake, Humboldt and Siskiyou counties in Northern Caliofrnia.

Inflated Boats Featured In S.D. Festival

What may turn out to be one of the highlights of this year's America's Finest City Week could also become California's newest water sport. It's a smooth and rough water competition scheduled at Mission Beach August 25, using standard U. S. Navy IBS craft.

The project is the brainchild of Rene Regalot, a recreation specialist in the City's Park and Recreation Department who was thoroughly trained in the use of the IBS during his years as a marine.

A series of events is planned both to demonstrate the skill of the contestants and the versatility of the inflatable boats. The events break down into two general categories: the smooth water races, which will be staged near the recreation center at Santa Clara Point; and the rough water, timed sea rescues and capsize drills, to be held off the main lifeguard station near Belmont Amusement Park.

Spectators watching the rehearsals which are being held weekends by the lifeguard tower in Mission Beach report successfully launching an IBS in the surf requires a combination of skill, muscle, determination and a fair amount of luck. Even the professional SEAL teams entered in the contest have spent a fair amount of time beside, below or anywhere but in the boats when the surf is running high.

The Rubber Boat Competition calls for either five or seven person teams, but there have been no inquiries from the ladies yet. For details, contact Rene Regalot at 236-5717.

Folk Music Program At Library Aug. 22

Folk music performers Anne-Marie Stolz and Paul Winter will stage the final children's summer program at the Casa de Oro Library August 22 at 2 p.m. Anne-Marie will sing modern songs while Paul plays his guitar and organ. Paul is about to embark on a musical career in the San Diego area.

BURGER MASTERS — Best Burger Restaurant will open soon in Lemon Grove at 7441 Broadway at the former location of Oscar's Best Burger, providing interior seating for 60, also boasts drive-thru convenience. It will feature USDA Choice beef in its hamburgers and steaks. Dinners and specialties will also be served. In the picture are George Ackors (left), president of Best Burger Corp. who says the Lemon Grove location is first of a county chain, and John Boles, the manager of the local Best Burger. Until recently Boles was manager of Hearth House Restaurant. "He has a successful track record in the past dozen years," Ackors said. "He dovetails perfectly with our policy of 'quality and quantity'."

AAA Sees Risk In Transportation Plan

Stressing the need for a "complete re - assessment and review" of the entire federal clean air program the Automobile Club of Southern California presented a detailed set of alternatives to the proposed transportation control plan for the San Diego Air Quality Control Region.

The Club's recommendations to the Environmental Protection Agency were presented at an EPA public hearing last Tuesday. Making the presentation were Richard Bailey, the Club's Regional manager for San Diego, and David Grayson, manager of the Club's highway engineering department.

The 16 page statement underlined the risk and questioned the wisdom of drastically changing the lifestyle of Southern California by what the Club calls an "unworkable and undesirable" plan.

The ten alternatives suggested by the Club include: giving priority to the development of clean-burning engines, greater production and use of smaller cars, increased implementation of car pools and expanded commuter bus service, and incentives and preferential treatent for high occupancy vehicles such as by-passes at metered freeway entrances.

Also recommended were enlarging the existing programs for more efficient movement of traffic by way of signal interconnect systems, etc., improvements in public transportation such as high capacity people movers or minibuses, staggering working hours and encouraging the four-day work week, and intensifying research to bring feasibility to EPA plans such as the annual vehicle inspections.

The Club also favors the development of a more workable "emergency air episode" approach through more accurate monitoring and foreasting, and lastly encourages improved land use planning and control preceding transportation development.

Grayson credited the EPA with "forcefully bringing before the community the government actions that will have to be taken under the Federal Clean Air Act." But he reiterated the necessity for a thorough review of the federal clean air program because the EPA's present plan "could lead in the short run to increased air pollution and, in the long run, to greater problems than air pollution itself."

Hearing Set on SDGE Request

A public hearing has been set by the California Public Utilities Commission for next Wednesday, on the application of San Diego Gas & Electric for a $1,943,600 annual increase in gas rates.

Proceedings will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Room B-109, State Building, 1350 Front Street, San Diego, with PUC Examiner Thomas E. Daly presiding.

SDG & E seeks relief to offset a possible increase in the cost of gas from its supplier, Southern California Gas Company.

SoCal has applied to the PUC for an $18,934,000 annual increase to offset an anticipated increase November 2 from its supplier, El Paso Natural Gas Company.

Johncock to Race At Ontario Track

Gordon Johncock and Pernelli Jones, two of the nation's top racers, visited San Diego Monday to discuss the 500 mile race scheduled for Ontario Speedway Sept. 2.

Johncock, now associated with the Ontario facility, said the track has slated two 100-mile qualifying rounds — one each on Aug. 25 and 26. Both men were visitors at the weekly meeting of Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn. Monday at 7 Seas-Hyatt House in Mission Valley.

Johncock was this year's winners of the Indianapolis 500, a rainswept, tragic affair in which David (Swede) Savage, Johncock's teammate died in a fireball wreck. Johncock has raced nine times at Indianapolis but this year's race was the shortest on record. It was stopped after 133 laps of the scheduled 200.

The Ontario track has been financially plagued but under new management with better lease arrangement, and name racers, it has a chance for success, Johncock says.

Pubs serving alcoholic beverages in Australia are required to close no later than 10 p.m. Until 1953 they had to close by six p.m.

Flournoy Eyes Speedy Action on Cleanup Bill

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy called on the Legislature last week for speedy adoption of a Senate Bill 90 "cleanup" measure that will "fulfill the promise of S.B. 90 and transform rhetoric into reality. If property tax limitations are going to work, the state must meet its fiscal responsibilities and fulfill its promise to pay the costs of duties it assigns local government."

"Senate Bill 90 promised that in order to hold down property taxes the state would pay for services which the state requires of local government. That provision, however, is merely a statement of intent by one legislature which cannot bind a future legislature. In order to fulfill the promise of S.B. 90, a workable appropriation and claims procedure must be devised," Flournoy said.

"Senate Bill 90 in its present form presents state and local government with tremendous problems which have already surfaced in the months since passage. For instance, we have had problems in the identification of valid state mandates and the timing for submission of claims for reimbursements by local governments," Flournoy said.

The Controller pointed out that his agency has had to reject many claims from local government falling under 1972 legislation — not on the basis of a review of their merits, but because the legislation has not included appropriations and authority to pay such claims.

"An immediate issue, for example, is financing the cost of a special statewide tax initiative election, estimated by some at $7 million to $10 million. Unless an appropriation is enacted by the legislature, these costs must be borne by the local property taxpayer," Flournoy said.

"A.B. 2008, currently moving through the legislature, is a measure that does much to improve technical aspects of S.B. 90. However, details of all-important provisions for reimbursement of local government for state-mandated costs remain to be worked out.

"As state controller, I share the concern of all local governments that strong guarantees for reimbursement of these costs be retained."

New Policy Aid To Permits, Variances

SAN DIEGO (CNA)—County Supervisors moved Tuesday to break an impasse that has bothered them for some time.

This is that when the board splits two to two on an appeal from the planning commission or zoning administrator, the item is deemed denied.

These are special use permits or variances and, in some cases, extension of subdivision maps.

The new ruling would, in the case of a deadlock, deem the item approved, that is, upholding the commission or administrator decision.

New Park Opens In Santa Cruz County

A $1 per car day use fee is now being charged for persons who use the new picnic areas at the forest of Nisene Marks State Park in Santa Cruz County.

The new picnic area features 10 family picnic sites which are linked by a trail. The sites contain tables and barbecue-type stoves. Restrooms are nearby. There is no water, the Department advised, so picnickers should bring their own.

Visitors may hike through the park on one of the many hiking trails, without fee, and there will be no fee for other hikers who park their vehicle within the park and walk the trails. The only fee will be for users of the picnic areas.

The 9,779-acre park was logged 70 to 80 years ago and was given to the State in 1963 by Herman Marks. It contains a large number of second-growth redwoods plus an occasional virgin redwood.

State Parks Director William Penn Mott, Jr., said the department has improved an old railroad bed for an access road and with citizen help has installed picnic facilities, thus providing additional recreational opportunities at this park.

Enrollment High For Third Summer Session

Twenty-eight hundred high school students in the Grossmont District have pre-registered for third session classes, according to Robert Fielder, Director of Special Projects.

All eight high schools are offering curriculum development in such courses as: Arts/Crafts Workshops, Student Government, Civics, U. S. History, Health, Wood Workshop, Auto Mechanics Workshop, and Publications.

The third session started Monday and will continue through August 28.

The first recorded wrestling match took place in 720 B.C. at the Great Olympic Games, but the sport probably had its beginning in Japan about 32 B.C.
